Paris, 4th May.

My dear Fina,

Towards the close of next week we shall leave Paris for London; and my regret at leaving a place where I have found so many friends & received so much kindness is lessened by the thought that I may hope soon to meet with others whom I have so long wished to see, & whom

Unseen, I have known & loved: friends who like yourself have loved us for our Cause's sake, — a true foundation for mutual regard than any other that can exist since it is laid in principles which are eternal We hear from American friends, that you have resolved to visit London, and I hasten to write that I may give you one London Address — 39 Devonshire Street Portland Place, in the hope that you will let us know when you arrive, where to find you.

We are all, my sisters & daughters equally, with myself impatient to see & thank you in person for all your kindness to our friends the Garners, Phillips & Wrights whom you have so warmly received on their visit to England. We long to express, as far words can, our gratitude for all you have done for our cause.
We long to see face to face, the friend we have so long known in the spirit. I have much to tell you of the prospect there is of aiding the cause here in France. I find some devoted hearts here, who will be, I am persuaded of constant service to it hereafter.

With our united & most cordial regards, I am ever yours tenderly Truly
